a visit to Tirano in March 2016

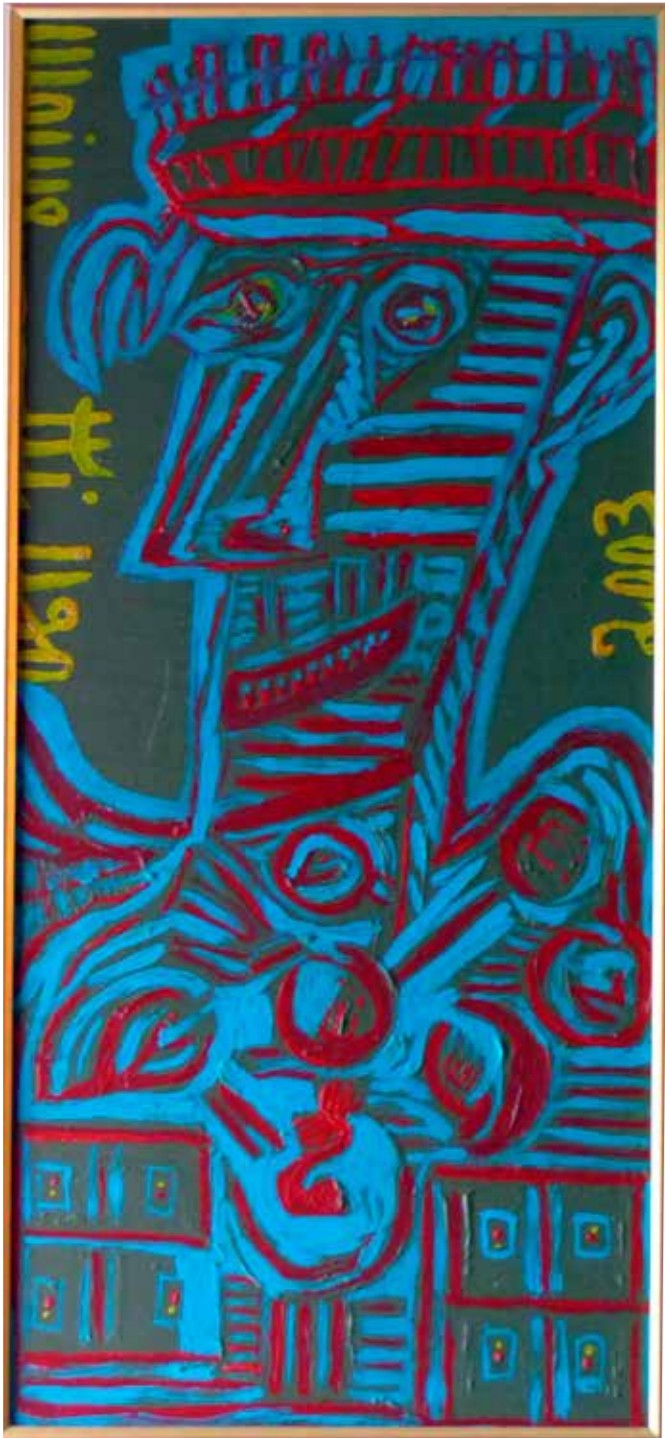

Ugo Mainetti was born 1945 as son of farmers in Veltin and lives in Tirano in Italy close to the Swiss border.

He learned the craft of a butcher and had his own butchery in Tirano for more than 20 years.

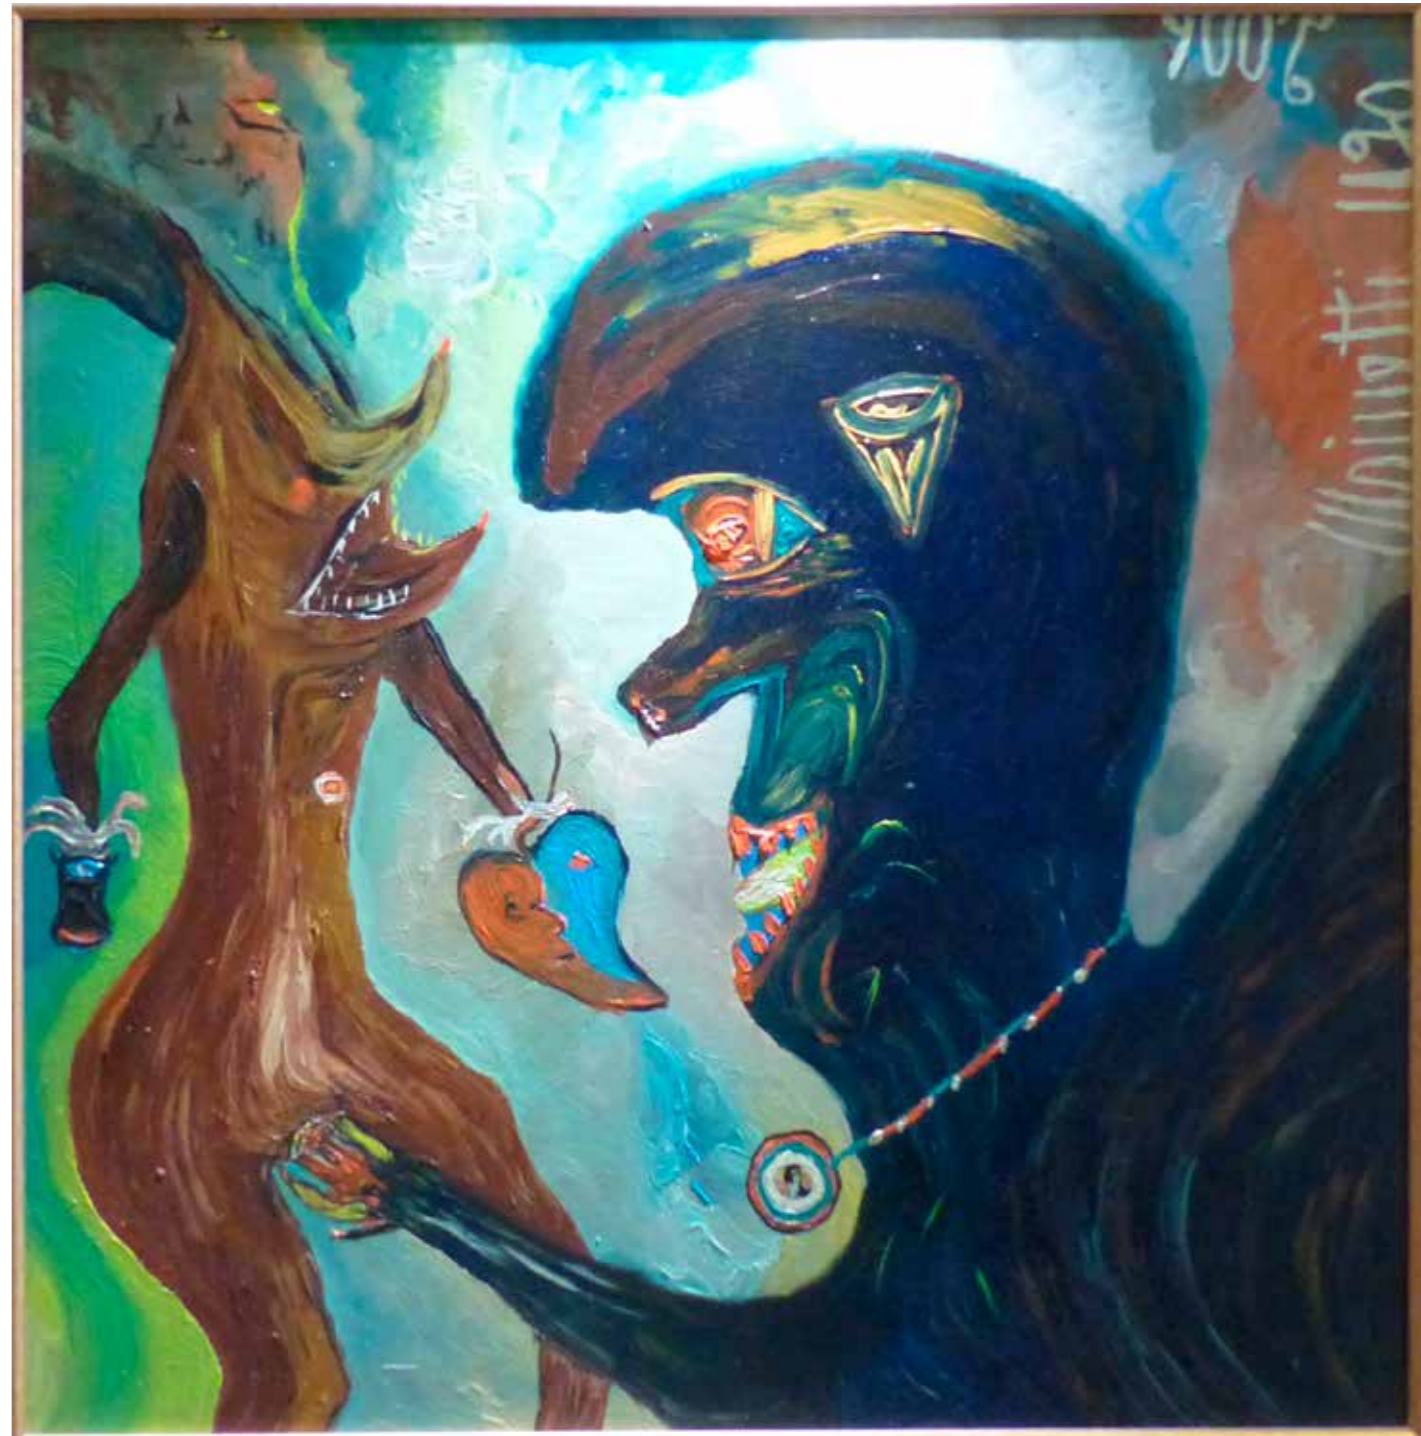

He painted since he was 12 – these mountains were his first painting – painting his dreams, at night time only.

He presented his paintings in his butchery, before he closed down and devoted his life to painting.

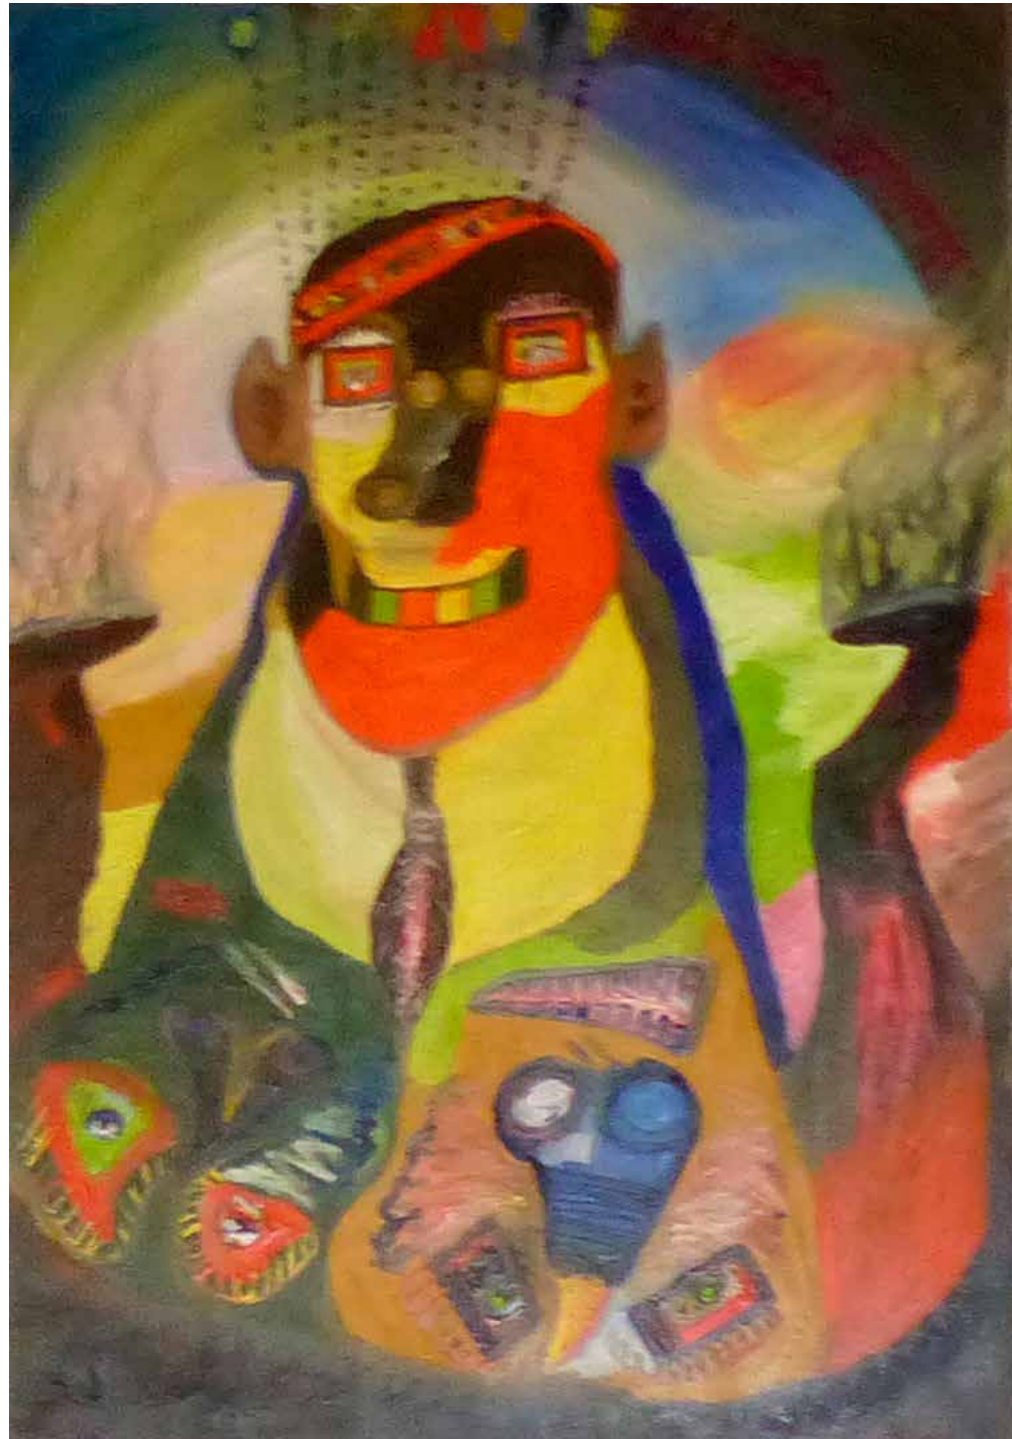

It was a pleasure to visit him in Tirano in his studio in avril 2016 and see his exhibition in Bormio together with him.

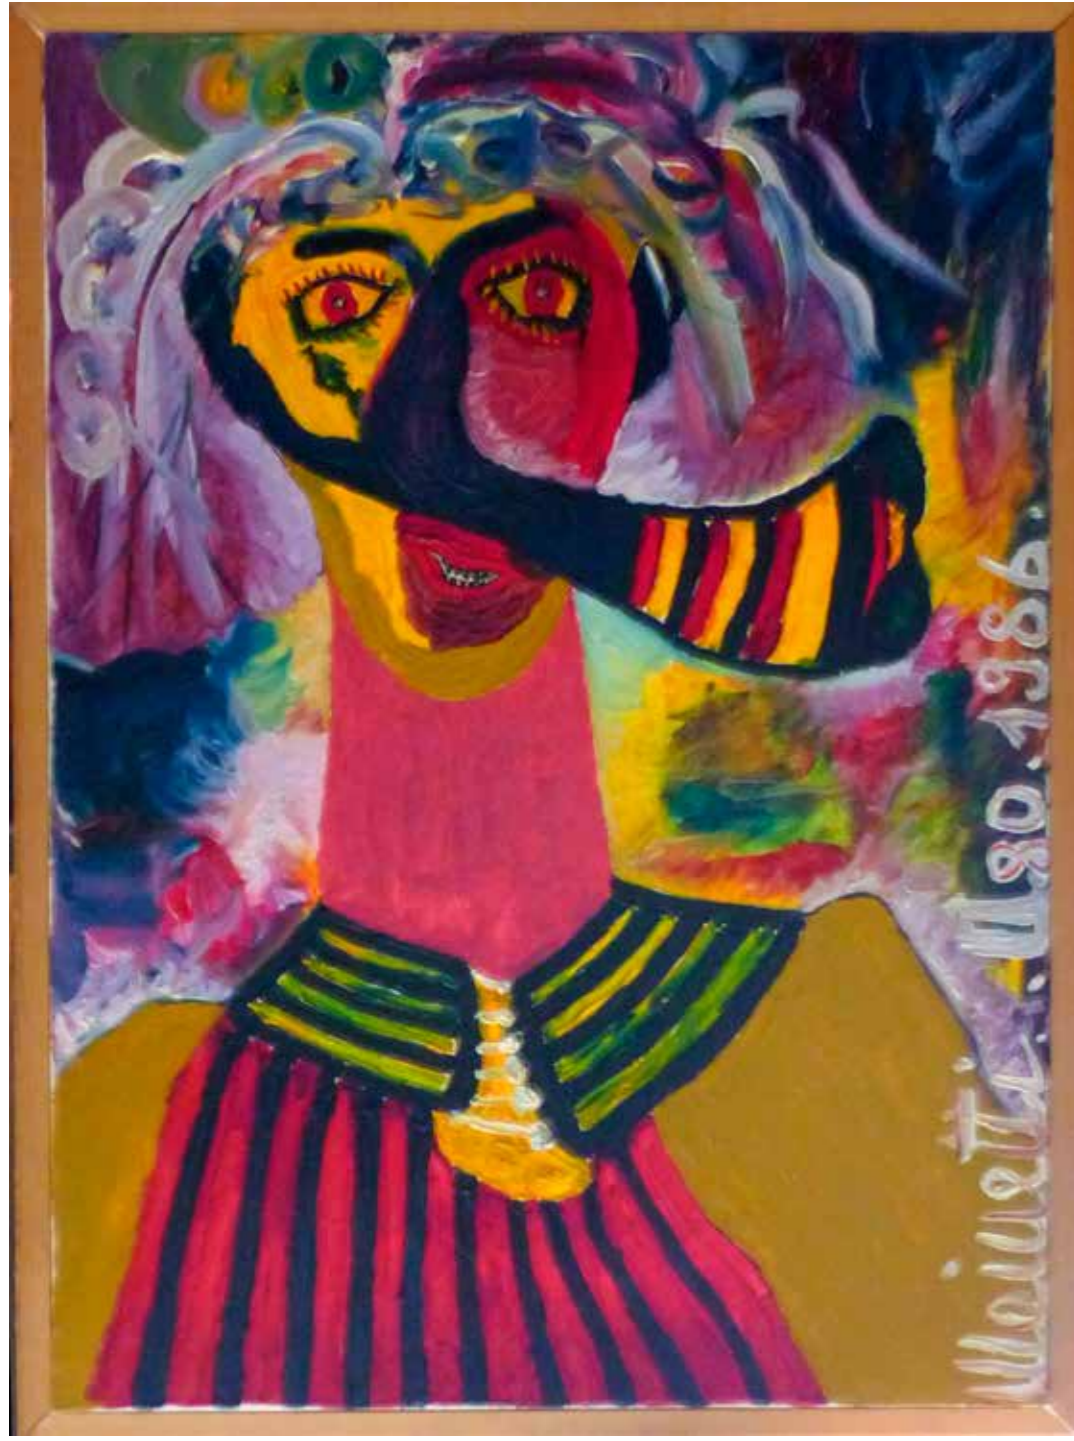

We met a sensitive, both gentle and very humble man, who welcomed us and presented his works to us with pride.

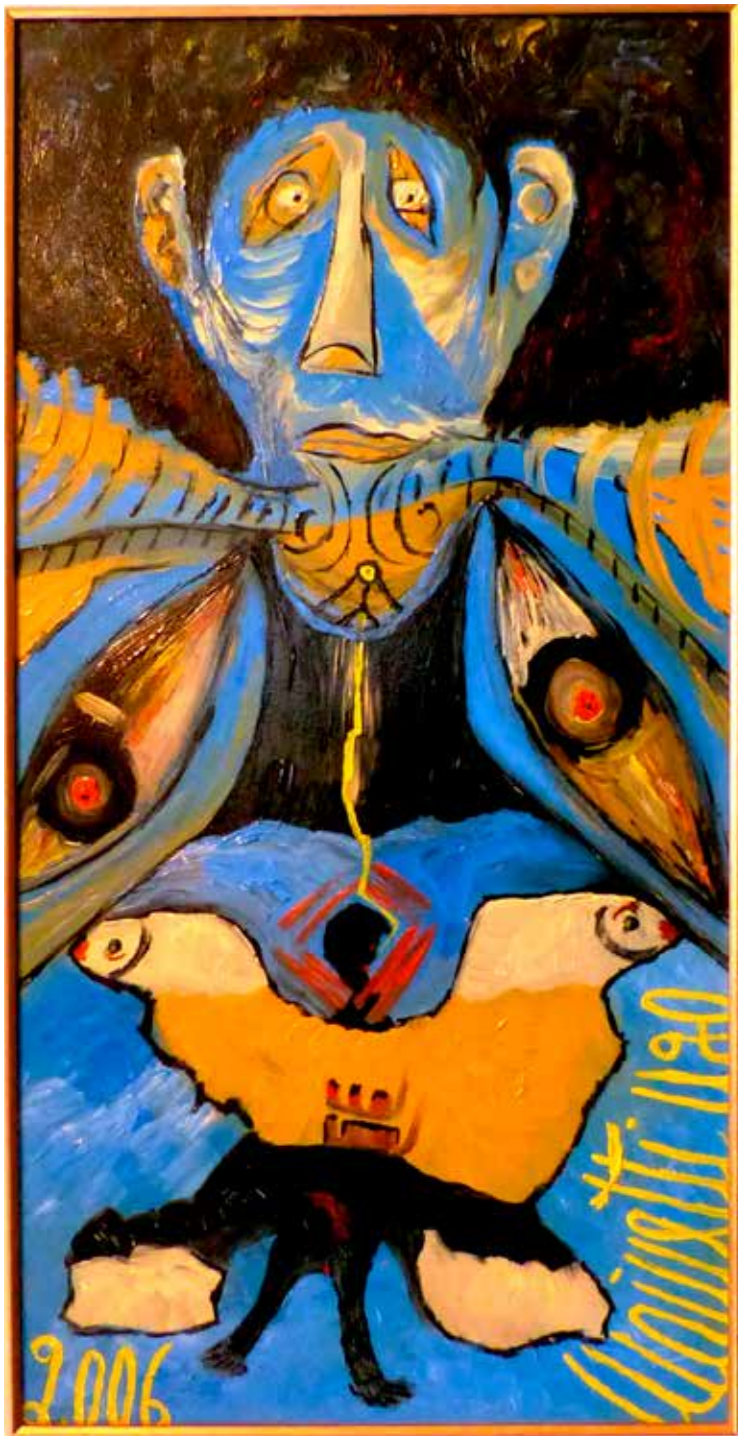

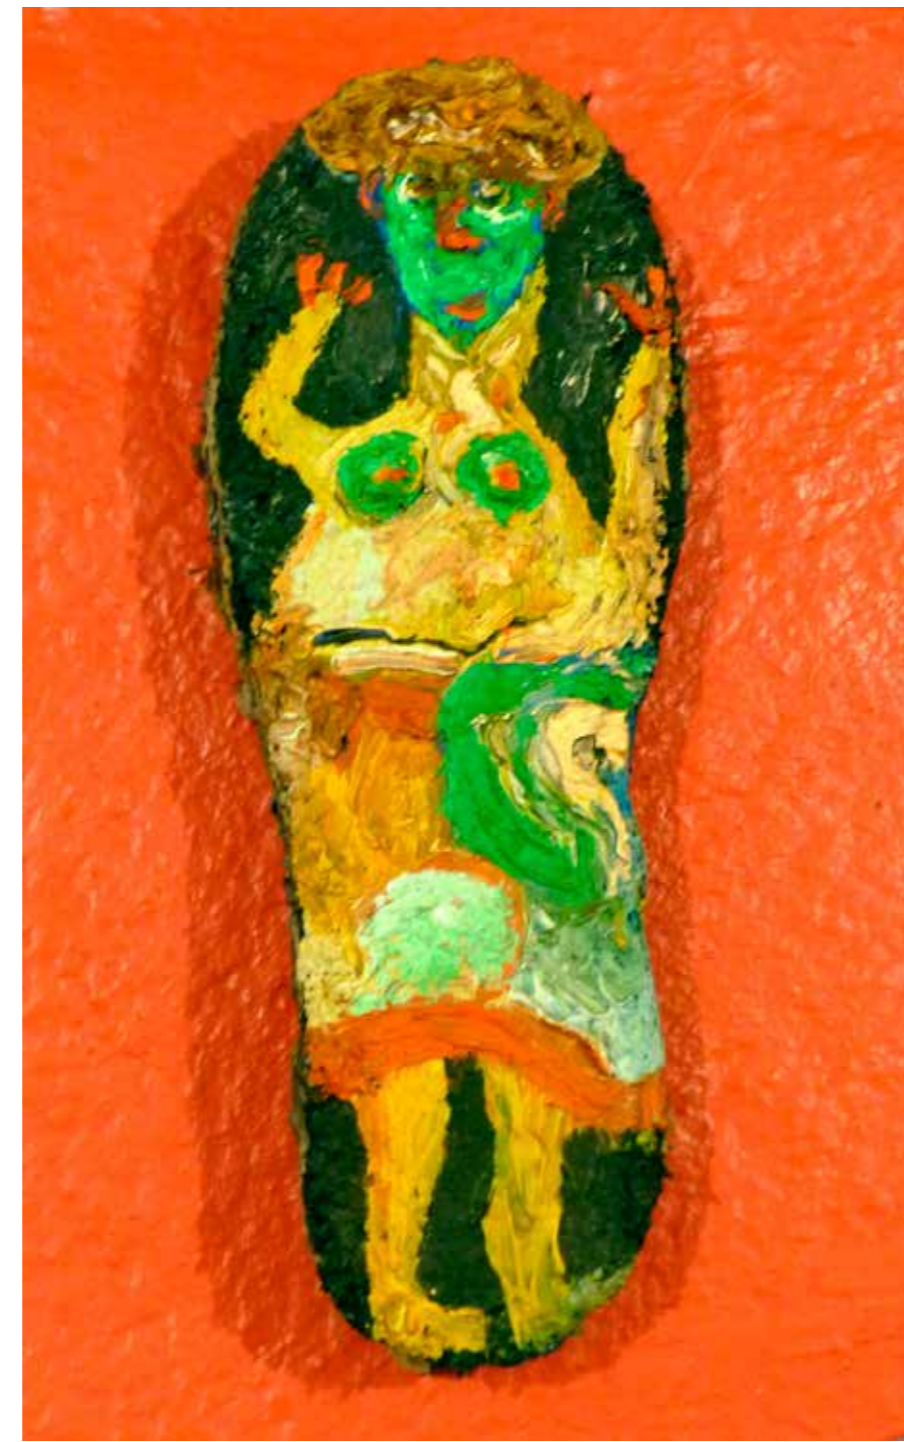

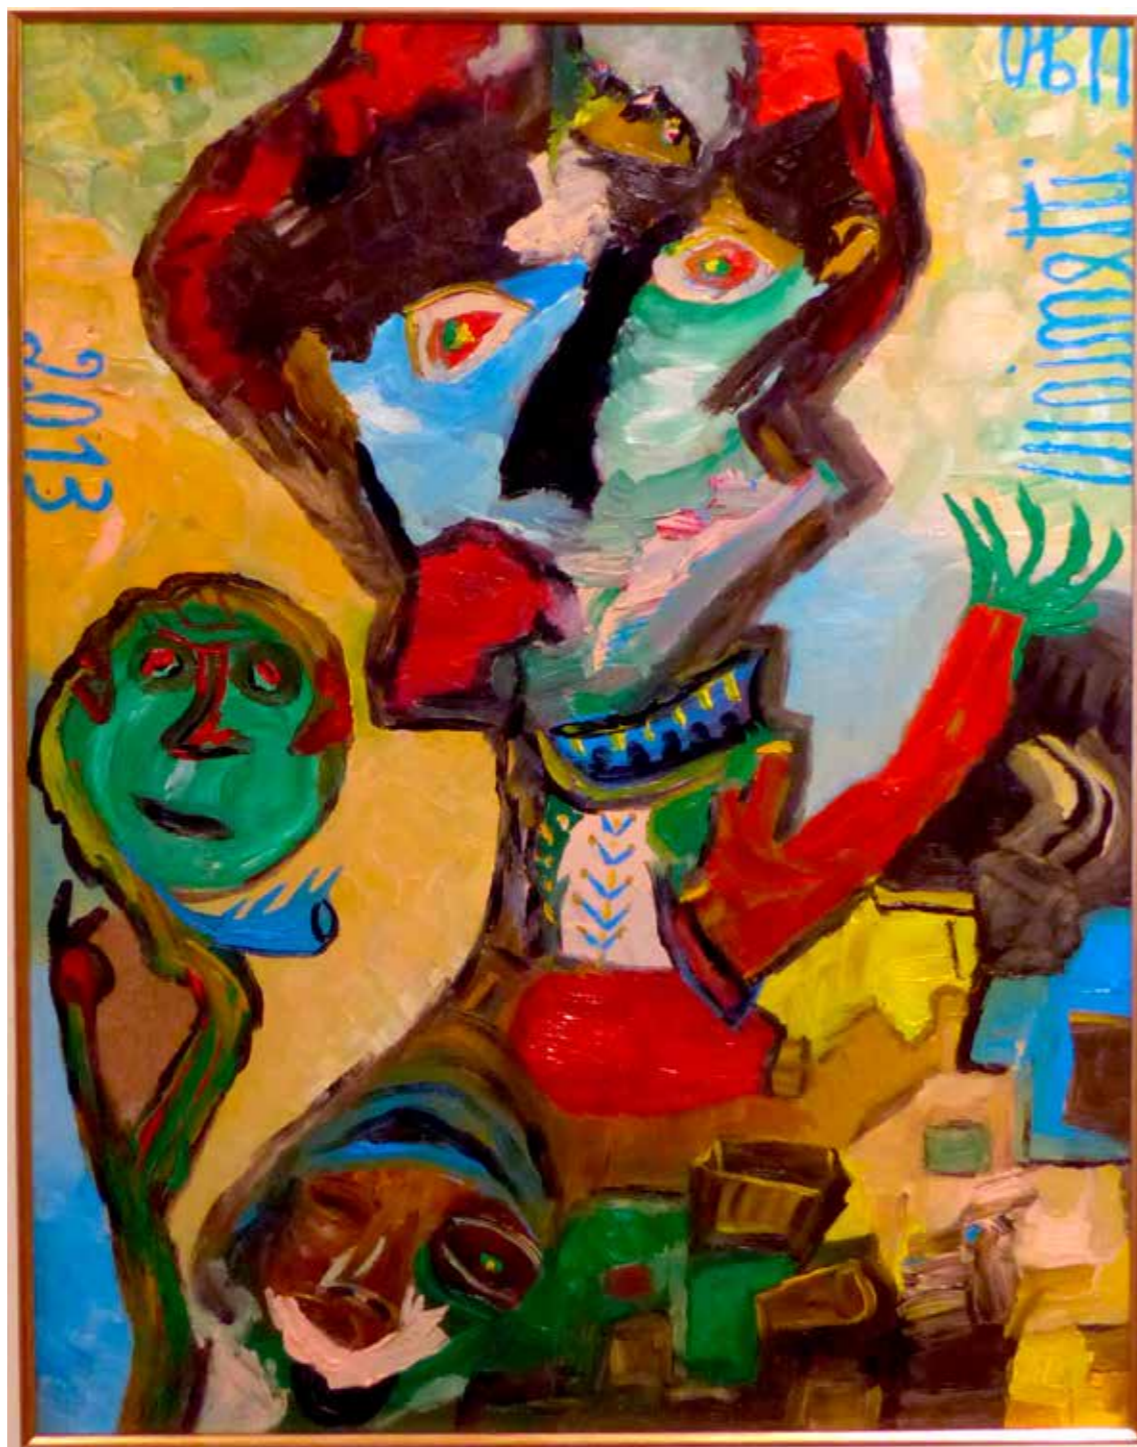

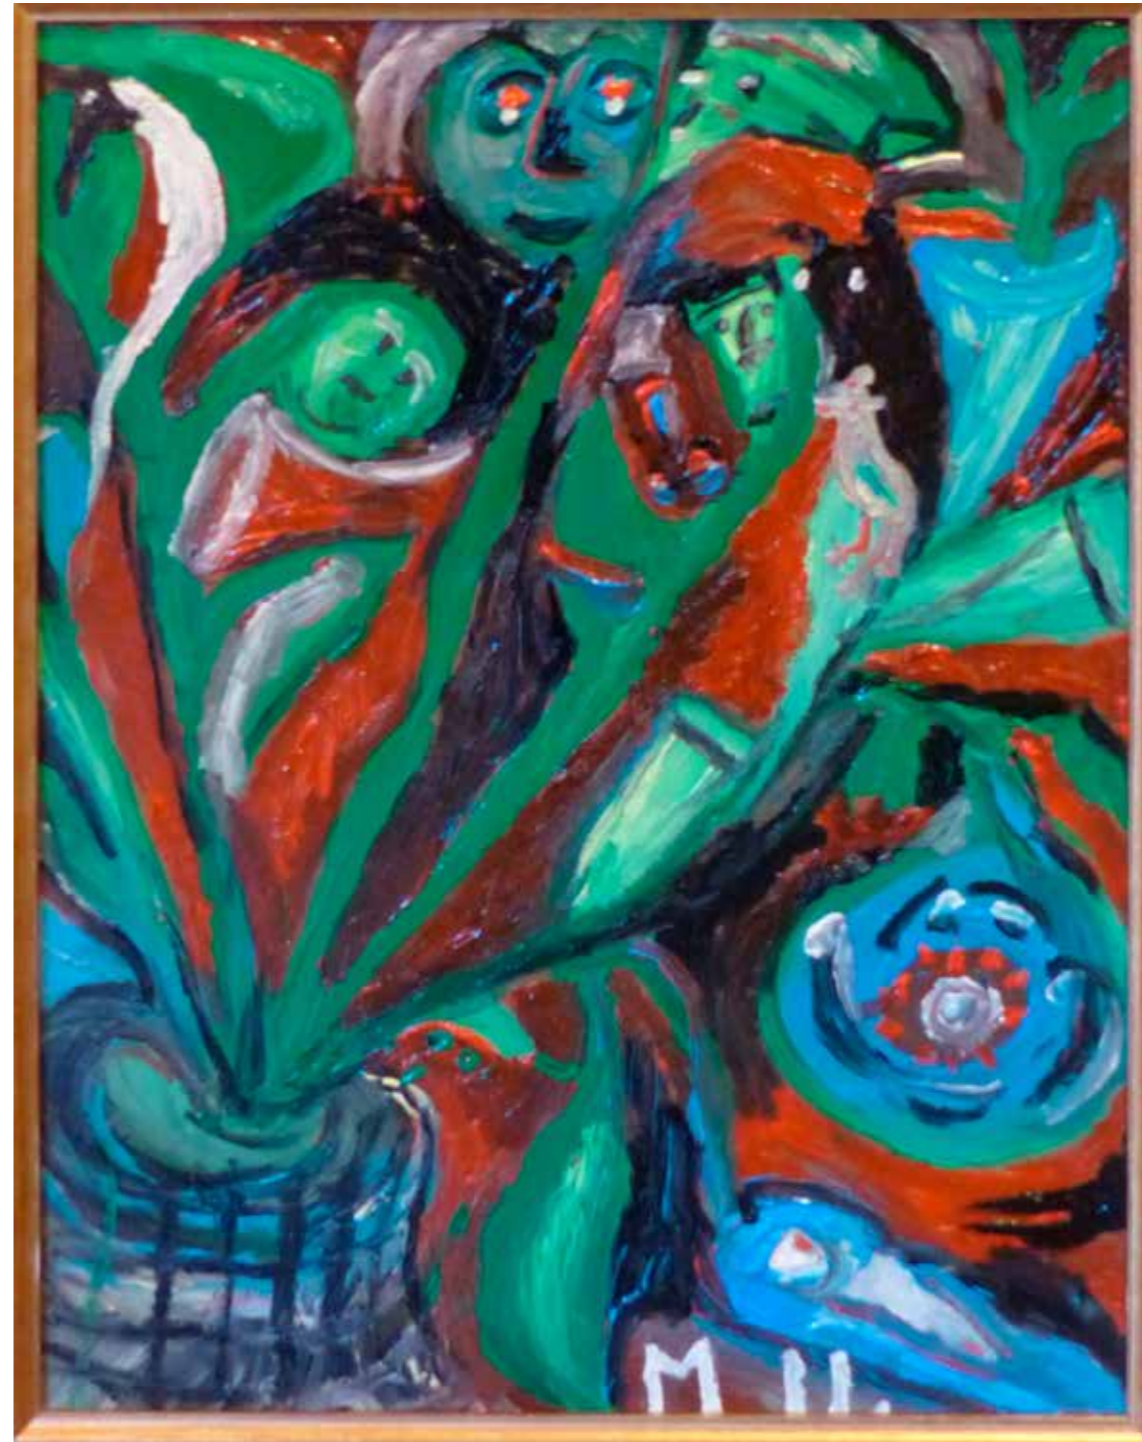

The goodbye of him and his wife at the end of our visit was as if we were close family members or friends of him!
